Event 20 mei

Youth has historically had a significant effect on global changes, it is for this reason why it remains important to create spaces where young people can come together to share ideas, engage and actively shape solutions for sustainable and inclusive development. This event aims to explore the powerful role of young people tackling global challenges and advancing sustainable and inclusive development. From civil rights to climate action, the role of youth in international cooperation is a story worth discovering. Feel that YOU can contribute? Register now!
